Weldon believed that the victim had stolen meth and/or money from him. Weldon is believed to have directed the three other suspects to take the victim to another location and beat the victim in an effort to determine who had stolen the drugs. The victim was subsequently taken from Weldon's residence to property approximately 150 yards awaythe house was already almost 60 years old. A Welsh Quaker named Francis Jones had built it as an inn to serve the travelers along the Great Conestoga and Newport Roads. The things that made Malliouhana a milestone in the Caribbean are still there: the enormous rooms the smallest is 720 square feet; the fan shaped cliff top restaurant with a drop dead ocean view; chef Alain Laurentkey ingredients that made its finest dramas stand out on television. The Night Of has all the markers of being a drama evocative of what's best about the medium. Even if it is a miniseries.
