n»iNanotechnology makes it Easy to Maintain Shower Enclosures in Hotels

A large hotel that comprises hundreds of suites is bound to have an equally large number of washrooms and bathrooms. In the hospitality industry, where maintaining top notch hygiene and cleanliness is crucial, the maintenance of shower enclosures is no exception. With the presence of a large number of bathrooms in mid and large sized hotels, nanotechnology-based coatings can tremendously reduce time and money spent on cleaning and maintaining bath enclosures.

Nanotechnology has been used in multiple applications the world and has forced us to challenge our traditional beliefs in science. In the recent times, this technology has shown encouraging results in increasing the durability of glass, granite, ceramics and porcelain etc. Let's take a look at how this technology can be used in enhancing the durability of bathing enclosures:

*When shower enclosures are treated with special coatings, they show better resistance to stains. This makes the enclosures look as good as new for an extended period of time.

*Protective coatings help the surface gain immunity against scratches, bruises and marks. This makes the surface look glossy and naturally, it looks clean.

*These coatings are scientifically developed and hence they bind with the surface for life. These coatings do not chip off or fade away easily.

* Since shower enclosures are subjected to different temperatures, lots of water, chemicals contained in soap and shampoo, they tend to get stained easily. But with the special coating, all these hassles are eliminated.

*These coatings also cut out the need for expensive cleaning solutions and chemicals. All you need is a mild detergent and some water to wipe the glass surface clean. Your hotel staff saves a lot of time and they can be engaged in other productive tasks.

*Extended dampness sometimes leads to the growth of fungi on the surface of the glass enclosures. But with special coatings, water does not stay on the surface. In fact, it can be likened to Teflon coating for utensils.

Nanotechnology coating for bath enclosures is an environment friendly and scientific process. So you can be satisfied about doing your bit for the environment. With the right kind of protective coatings, you can get more value for money and also keep the bathrooms in your hotel looking new for years. This means that you are also freed of recurring costs such as replacement of the glass, ceramics or porcelain fittings.

In the hospitality industry, these shower enclosures can be custom ordered and when ordering in bulk, one can also avail of some sizeable discounts from manufacturers.
